(Download this entire PDF document in order to use the following links to jump to your area(s) of interest)

This week's edition includes several excellent and interesting new events & opportunities –some events are scheduled for Saturday, March 6, and some programs have very imminent deadlines – as early as March 15 - so please explore them ASAP.

For example:
--In the EVENTS section, there is a "Girls in Science & Engineering" interactive session on Saturday, 3/6. On the same day, check out the "Future of Robotics" discussion with the head of the Google Brain project.

--In the STEM section:

The CCNY Summer STEM Institute is open to all 9th, 10th, and 11th graders. There are also new opportunities with Brookhaven National Laboratory for seniors & some juniors, and with CUNY Earth Science/Engineering for female & other under-represented group students.

--In the area of Biology/Medicine/Life Sciences, a new one-day Perry Initiative interactive event for female students on April 12 (register ASAP – these fill up quickly), plus the Sophie Davis Medical School Mentorship program for all sophomores interested in medicine, and the CDC Disease Detective virtual one-week summer program.

--In the Theater/Writing/Performing Arts section, all students may apply for the free Summer Arts Institute's wide variety of creative options, Student writers should consider the "Apprentice Writer" program or enter the "John Sexton Essay Contest,"
--And students who enjoy dance should consider the Young Dancemakers Summer Program for this upcoming July & August.

 Please start exploring your options and begin applying to whichever fit your interests & talents – the students who end up with the best options are usually those who focus early – please do not procrastinate!! All students and parents are always welcome to contact Harvey Blumm at hblumm@stuy.edu for advice & assistance.

For ease of use, these newsletters are organized by different categories, such as Academic Programs, Business & Jobs, Community Service, and so on.

New items always will be listed first in every category, followed by those with approaching deadlines (Deadline Approaching).

Questions, suggestions, and information about other opportunities are always welcome and appreciated, and may be sent to Internship Coordinator Harvey Blumm at: hblumm@stuy.edu - we will share your helpful information with the Stuy community!

New: The Centers for Disease Control Disease Detective Camp in Atlanta is a free one-week summer public health program.

"The CDC Museum Disease Detective Camp teaches attendees the fundamentals of CDC's work: the field of public health and the science of epidemiology. The camp does not have a medical treatment focus. While we do briefly discuss the pathology of some diseases, most of the time is spent focused on the collection and analysis of data and the use of that data to improve people's health. The camp also covers the many different career options available within public health, including medical doctors, so if you are interested in medicine, this camp could be a good learning opportunity for you."

For the possible in-person format, transportation & lodging must be arranged by the student's family. Space is limited, so interested students should apply early.

Eligible: All current sophomores & juniors who will be 16 by the start of camp.

Dates: Two identical sessions: June 21 – 25 and/or July 19 – 23

Theater/Writing/Music/Video:

New: Event Approaching: Girls Write Now Friday Night Salons

All students are welcome to view these free regular weekly get-togethers with successful writers. Past sessions are also available to view online. The next session's topic is: From Micro to Macro - Starting a Novel – with visual artist & author Keisha Bush.

"A note from Keisha: Writing a novel is a major undertaking. One question many writers and aspiring novelists have is, "where do you start?" One technique that has helped me as a writer is to focus on a very narrow space when I am starting a project. So, instead of becoming overwhelmed with needing to see or know the entire novel from day one, what I focus on is getting the writing going by focusing on the micro and allowing that to lead me to the great story. Focusing on an object, a place, a feeling or a character can often open up the larger world and questions in which you, the writer, are seeking to answer within your work."

.Eligible: All students

If you are selected for or enroll in any of the above opportunities, please inform Mr. Blumm ASAP at: hblumm@stuy.edu

Whichever extra-curricular program, internship, or community service activity a student may participate in, they should be sure to ask their supervisor/coordinator to write a letter of appreciation before it concludes – it is sometimes very difficult to obtain this later on. And the more personal & detailed the letter, the better. A copy should then be submitted to your counselor.

Please feel free to contact Harvey Blumm at hblumm@stuy.edu with any questions or feedback on any items in this message, or with any suggestions or concerns you may have. And always feel free to share any information about opportunities that may be of interest to our parents, teachers, or students
