Seniors should note that the deadline for the Stuyvesant Alumni Association application for their numerous scholarships for Stuy students is April 30th. Check the SCHOLARSHIPS section below for more information.

The application deadline for the free NYC STEM Matters Summer program is April 26th. Participants can engage in a wide variety of STEM-focused activities at various locations around the city – this is open to all current 9th, 10th, and 11th graders.

Other highlights this week:

---In the EVENTS section, there is a large, in-person college fair at the Javits Center in Manhattan on Sunday from 1:00 – 4:00pm; all are welcome. The new Climate Museum offers a Pop-Up event on April 23rd (1:30-5:30pm, 120 Wooster Street) in which participants can create artwork related to sustainability with guidance from two professional artists. And the New York Public Library has a summer Career Resources Fair at 476 5th Avenue in Manhattan on April 28th, open to all students.

---In the ACADEMICS category, some free summer College Now courses offered by CUNY colleges are now available for applications; for example, interesting virtual classes (Business & Entrepreneurship, Cybersecurity, etc) from Bronx Community College have a May 1st deadline. There are also new summer pre-college classes listed from various private colleges – many offer financial aid to eligible students. And the Summer STEM Corps is a free program for current seniors who are first generation or low-income – it prepares them for STEM college majors and careers.

---In the STEM section, the deadline for the summer Goals for Girls program at the Intrepid Museum at 46th Street & 12th Avenue in Manhattan has been extended to April 16th – all 9th grade female students may apply. And the Manhattan College Summer Engineering Awareness program for 10th and 11th grade female & under-represented students offers several free two-week sessions focused on the field of Engineering. The application deadline is April 24th!

And there are many excellent summer options in the WRITNG/THEATER category – some have fast-approaching deadlines.

Questions, suggestions, and information about other opportunities are always welcome and appreciated, and may be sent to Internship/Opportunity Coordinator Harvey Blumm at: hblumm@stuy.edu - we will share your helpful information with the Stuy community! And, as always, students and parents should feel free to contact Harvey Blumm for advice & assistance.

Events of Interest to Students:

New: Event Approaching: Drop-in Earth Day Arts Workshop

“We invite visitors of all ages and abilities to join us in community art-making at the Pop-Up. Visitors will have the opportunity to participate in drop-in workshops with two outstanding artists: Artist Nicole Kelner will lead a watercolor workshop that draws on the SolarPunk aesthetic, which she will outline and which envisions a climate-safe future through lush, utopian imagery. With guidance from the artist, visitors will picture the world they want to live in in their mind’s eye, and bring it to life on paper using a bright watercolor palette.

Simultaneously, in a different space in the exhibition, interdisciplinary artist and educator Dario Mohr will lead us in exploring how historical systems of inequality have led to unequal access to green space, with plant deserts in many Black and brown neighborhoods. He’ll invite visitors to bring new plant life into the city and to continue to reflect on this history by writing or illustrating messages to our common ancestors on seed paper greeting cards, which will ultimately grow into African Daisies. Stop by either workshop or both to join us in this day of reflection, connection, and art-making for better futures.”
