Welcome to the second Student Opportunity Bulletin of the 2022-2023 school year!

For ease of use, these newsletters are organized by different categories, such as Academic Programs, Business Internships & Jobs, STEM Opportunities, Community Service, and so on.

Questions, suggestions, and information about other opportunities are always welcome and appreciated, and may be sent to Internship Coordinator Harvey Blumm at: hblumm@stuy.edu - we will share your helpful information with the Stuy community!

There are a number of excellent new opportunities in this issue, including (just to highlight a few):

ACADEMICS: Harvard Weekend Junior Academy sessions, which focus on introducing students to career paths in Medicine, Law, Coding, and more.

BUSINESS: Rock the Street Wall Street offers a series of five free after-school sessions (in-person at Stuy) to introduce female students to the Finance Industry & Personal Finance. Participants work with successful female finance professionals.

COMMUNITY SERVICE There are several new opportunities with non-profit tutoring organizations – check the item with a link to a document with a full list tutoring spots, at the end of this category section.

GOVERNMENT/LEADERSHIP The National Security Language Initiative offers both virtual (Spring term) and in-person (Summer) international travel experiences, with the goal of teaching students Chinese, Hindi, Arabic, and other world languages.

STEM: The Perry Initiative invites all female students to participate in an upcoming free one-day virtual conference focused on orthopedic medicine, science, and engineering. York College in Queens offers a NASA Aerospace program. The eCyber Mission welcomes teams of 9th-graders to develop technology-based solutions to community problems; and MIT's BeaverWorks program offers virtual fall term sessions for female 11th graders.

THEATER/WRITING: There are several new Poetry opportunities, as well as a Pulitzer organization letter-writing initiative.

Events of Interest to Students:

New: YouthAction NYC Internship

“Are you a young New York City resident looking to learn how to be an effective advocate for yourself, your school and your community?”

The YouthAction NYC Internship program will be held year long and will be split into two semesters of work. The first semester will focus on teaching you effective advocacy tools, discussing current issues in your community, and analyzing data and research on these issues. This will also be time for you to vocalize your own experiences and build solidarity with your peers in the program.

The Second semester, the winter/spring semester, will focus on utilizing all the tools and research you've learned to advocate, campaign, and rally for the issues you're passionate about. This will include but is not limited to, possible meetings with council members and legislators, speaking to other youth programs focusing on similar topics, conducting your own research, trips to Albany, and a chance to join the NYC Youth Agenda Steering Committee.”

Deadline Approaching: Bottom Line Access High School Support Program

“Beginning in late junior or senior year of high school, students visit our offices to begin meeting with a Bottom Line advisor. They share with us their interests, aspirations, academic history, and family circumstances. Through a series of one-on-one meetings, Bottom Line's full-time college advisors help each high school senior navigate the complex and intimidating college application process.

We understand that applying to college can be overwhelming, but the one-on-one advising that we provide will give you the time and attention you need to navigate this process. Services include assistance with creating a college match list, developing a personalized application plan, brainstorming application essays, getting application fee waivers, searching for scholarships, arranging for campus visits and interviews, preparing for the financial aid process, committing to a college, and more.”
