Here are some highlights for this week:

Please note that a number of program opportunities have upcoming deadlines of March 1st or during the first week of March. With the midwinter break week off from school, now is a great time to select & apply to some of the summer & spring term opportunities listed below!

Here are some highlights for this week:

---In the ACADEMICS section, there is an item for the February 25th virtual pre-college program fair to learn about academic summer programs at many top U.S. colleges and universities. And check the separate link we've provided for a list of numerous summer pre-college courses open to high school students. While these can be expensive, many do offer some financial aid.

---In the BUSINESS/JOBs category, the NYC Summer Youth Employment Program application is now open to students from all grades. All students looking for summer opportunities should register, as it provides paid options and a chance to learn about real-world employment. Also, the Manhattan District Attorney Office welcomes all students to participate in their in-person Resume & Interview Workshop on February 24th – this is an excellent chance to speak with legal professionals & learn about their summer internship program.

And all female students can join the upcoming series of “Rock the Street Wall Street” Business/Finance seminars with successful women executives from the Invesco corporation. They will meet on five Tuesday afternoons at Stuyvesant from 2/28 – 3/28.

---In the STEM section, Fordham University's GenCyber Security summer program (at their Lincoln center campus) is a free one-week introduction to this growing field of computer science – it is open to all students.

HackNYU is scheduled for this weekend (2/18 – 2/19); students of all experience levels may participate and enjoy this fun, educational event.

NYU Tandon's popular ARISE summer technology program (for current 10th & 11th graders) offers a virtual Information Session on February 23rd; interested students & parents are welcome to register.

And there are several free medical-oriented summer programs throughout the city now open for student applications. These include two from Maimonides Hospital in Brooklyn, Weill Cornell in Manhattan, and more. And the one-day, in-person Perry Initiative Medical Event on Saturday, March 25th for interested female students at NYU in Manhattan has a February 23rd application deadline!

A helpful article about ways for students to make the best use of (& enjoy) their summers is available at this link:

2- Co-creating Future: Augmented Reality As Crystal Ball

“How can the art of divination, or fortune-telling, guide us to rethink software as a system of healing, and how can we use software to develop healing tools? Inspired by the I Ching, an ancient text of Chinese wisdom and the world’s oldest oracle, artist and educator Zhenzhen Qi takes us through a variety of cultural divination practices to collectively design new or alternative patterns for fortune-telling. As a group, using the software development environment Lens Studio, we will code these patterns into a Snapchat AR filter to develop our own fortune-telling software experience. No prior software design or development experience is needed!”

If you are selected for or enroll in any of the above opportunities, please inform Mr. Blumm ASAP at: hblumm@stuy.edu

Whichever extra-curricular program, internship, or community service activity a student may participate in, they should be sure to ask their supervisor/coordinator to write a letter of appreciation before it concludes – it is sometimes very difficult to obtain this later on. And the more personal & detailed the letter, the better. A copy should then be submitted to your counselor.

Please feel free to contact Harvey Blumm at hblumm@stuy.edu with any questions or feedback on any items in this message, or with any suggestions or concerns you may have. And always feel free to share any information about opportunities that may be of interest to our parents, teachers, or students.
